```
┌─────────────────┐          ┌─────────────────────┐
│                 │─────────►│      master         │
│     Samba       │          │   LDAP server       │
│                 │◄─────────┤                     │
└─────────────────┘     │    └─────────────────────┘
                        │           additive
                        │    ┌─────────────────────┐
                        └───►│      slave          │
                             │   LDAP server       │
                             └─────────────────────┘
```

The LDAP backend consists of a master and a slave for the same
This is a broken implementation
– accounts will be duplicated